Form 990, Part III, Line 1 - Organization Mission

Treatment Action Group, Inc. ("TAG") is a not-for-profit organization incorporated under the laws of the state of New York. Founded in January 1992, TAG is the only organization in the country dedicated solely to AIDS research advocacy. TAG focuses on the public and private AIDS research effort to improve the drug development process, speed the pace of medical advances in treating HIV disease and its opportunistic infections, and ensure that the government spends its AIDS research dollars wisely. Armed with keenly developed scientific and political expertise, TAG's full-time policy staff members meet with researchers, pharmaceutical companies and government officials to transform research policy.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - Program Service Accomplishments

Antiretroviral Project: Treatment Action Group's Antiretroviral Project reviews the state of research on anti-HIV drug discovery, development, dissemination, and post-marketing surveillance; advocates for accelerated, better-focused efforts in this area; focuses on innovative treatments which are which are active against drug-resistant HIV easier to take, less toxic, and/or represent a major therapeutic breakthrough such as a new drug class. TAG advocates for better post-marketing research on approved antiretroviral drugs to improve standards of care; works on domestic and international treatment guidelines; and educates and mobilizes policymakers, researchers, and the HIV community on anti-HIV treatment research. TAG works with academic researchers, clinicians, Federal agencies such as the Food & Drug Administration (FDA) and the National Institutes of Health (NIH), and with domestic and international community coalitions to achieve these ends.

Federal Policy Project: TAG works to secure additional funds for the U.S. and international AIDS research, treatment, and public education programs and seek to influence policymakers, researchers, and the HIV community so that the funds are spent effectively and efficiently. TAG closely monitors the AIDS research programs at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) to ensure that they are efficient, effective, and address the highest priority questions in AIDS research and treatment, both domestically and internationally; and advocates in Washington, D.C., for a strong and independent NIH Office of AIDS Research (OAR). To these ends, TAG works with coalitions such as the AIDS Treatment Activists Coalition (ATAC), the Coalition for Salvage Therapy (CST), the Fair Price Coalition (FPC), the Federal AIDS Policy Partnership (FAPP), the Research Working Group (RWG), and Save ADAP.

Basic Science, Vaccines, and Prevention Project: TAG's Palm Project reviews the state of basic research on HIV/AIDS, including pathogenesis, immunology, vaccine, microbicide, and pre-clinical discovery and development, and advocates for better and faster research into the pathogenesis of HIV infection and the interactions between HIV and the immune system, for research on immune-based therapeutic approaches to HIV infection, for accelerated, scientifically rigorous HIV vaccine and microbicide research, and on projects to educate and mobilize policymakers, researchers, and the HIV community on basic science and vaccine development.

Hepatitis / HIV Co-Infection Project: Treatment Action Group's Hepatitis/HIV Coinfection Project reviews the state of research on the opportunistic complications, infections, cancers, and co-infections related to HIV/AIDS and coinfections with viral hepatitis diseases such as hepatitis B and C viruses, and advocates for greater efforts in this area while working to educate and mobilize policymakers, researchers, and the HIV community. In 2007 TAG's efforts focused on hepatitis C virus (HCV) infection, which co-infects up to a quarter of all people with HIV in the United States and often leads to end-stage liver disease. TAG works to improve research, treatment, and community awareness of these co-infections.

Tuberculosis (TB) / HIV Advocacy Project: TAG's TB/HIV Advocacy Project seeks to educate and empower communities affected by HIV/AIDS domestically and internationally to understand, mobilize, and respond effectively to the challenges posed by the intersecting epidemics of tuberculosis (TB) and HIV. Worldwide, TB is the leading opportunistic infection and a leading cause of death among people living with HIV. To educate, mobilize, and empower HIV communities, TAG works to increase community understanding of TB/HIV co-infection and to increase the quality and quantity of research, treatment and resources to combat the two epidemics.

TAG Publications and Website: TAG publishes periodic issues of the research and treatment policy newsletter, TAGline, the Annual Report, What's in the Pipeline?, and updates on website www.treatmentactiongroup.org.
